T. E. Pollock, of Flagstaff, was in Kingman yesterday to look after his banking interests.

J. M. Whiting left a few days ago for Williams, where he has accepted a lucrative position.

Ed. Tobey and wife, accompanied by Miss Alice Smith, departed to Los Angeles last Thursday evening.

Mrs. M. E. Cohenour has gone to Imperial valley, where her son Fred L. Cohenour is reported to be seriously ill with smallpox.

Mrs. J. C. Herndon accompanied her son, C. W. Herndon, from Prescott last Sunday evening and will remain in Kingman several months.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright, father and mother of J. B. Wright, who have been visiting in Kingman the past several months, have gone back to their home in Virginia.

Next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be an exhibit of the work of the 1st and 2nd grades in the primary room at Odd Fellows hall. All parents and those interested in primary work are invited to be present.

Miss Frankie Potts arrived from Santa Ana the first of the week and is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Potts. Miss Frankie has many warm friends in this county that are pleased to see her once more.

J. H. Robinson and wife, of Prescott, are visiting in Kingman. Mr. Robinson is a well known sheepman of this and Yavapai counties, and has long held official positions in Yavapai county.

D. T. Price, for several years manager of the bookkeeping department of Lovin & Withers company, departed last Sunday to his old home in Tennessee, where he will visit with his little son and relatives. He will be gone a month or so.

Last Monday afternoon Drs. Bucher and Tilton performed an operation on Judge W. G. Blakely, removing a small tumor from the patients back. The operation was a success and the patient is able to get around town without suffering any inconvenience.

We hope that an effort will be made to erect a big hotel or other necessary building on the lots recently occupied by the Maddux blacksmith shop. The corner is one of the most valuable pieces of property in the county and should not be allowed to lie idle.

J. C. Maddux has removed his blacksmith plant to his new shop on South Front street, where he has one of the most up-to-date shops in the state. He is also getting things in shape to greatly add to his facilities by the addition of a brass foundry and a small iron foundry.

Arden T. Day, Lewis Bradbury and T. C. Trippel, of Los Angeles, passed through Kingman Wednesday last in a big locomobile car for the eastern seaboard. The men are to take in all the sights along the northern Arizona scenic route, and will arrive at New York within the next two months. They shipped their car from Needles to Yucca and then beat the train to Kingman.

J. F. Withers arrived in Kingman several days ago from his home in Los Angeles, and accompanied by his brother, supervisor J. S. Withers, will leave tomorrow night for the old home in Birmingham, Alabama, where they will visit with their mother and brother. The visit will be in the nature of a surprise to the good old mother who has not seen either of the boys in a number of years.

Representative Jack Ellis, accompanied by his niece, Miss Mabel Graves, arrived in Kingman last Sunday evening from Phoenix, where they spent several months in attendance on the two sessions of the legislature. Miss Graves acted as a page in the house and was a universal favorite, while the performance of Mr. Ellis was all that his constituency could expect of him.

Rebekahs to Celebrate

Kingman Rebekah lodge will give a grand ball and luncheon at Odd Fellows Hall on the evening of June 7th. The best of music will be furnished for the occasion and the refreshments are to be just what will tempt the appetite of a disreptic. Don't overlook this dance, as you will have the time of your life. Tickets are now on sale.

An effort is being made to sell the road bonds of Mohave county at a premium and have the work of road building commenced within the next few months. Mohave county needs good roads badly and it is to be hoped that every effort will be made to put through the road deal. We would also suggest that an effort be made to have congress pass the subject of an appropriation for a bridge at Topock. This bridge is of vital interest to this and San Bernardino counties whether we are to have a National highway or not. There is not a wagon bridge across the Colorado river from Green river to the mouth of the Colorado, ferryage being the means of getting from one side of that great stream to the other. When the river is at its height it is practically impossible to get across and all shipments must be by rail.

Kingman people might build to great advantage in making possible an automobile road in the high Wallapai, where summer camps may be made among the pines. The ride would be only about two hours from Kingman, and many of the surrounding towns would also participate in setting up a splendid summer resort, where people might enjoy themselves at an altitude that would be bracing and exhilarating. Only a few hundred dollars would be necessary to make the road passable by auto and it could then be gradually built into a splendid highway.

Capt. John C. Potts returned last Sunday evening from a visit to relatives in northern Iowa, having gone to that place from Kansas City, where he was among the big gang of good roads boosters at the Old Trails meeting. He brought back with him papers and bills prepared by his grandfather in the early part of the 18th century, when the grandfather was a magistrate in Pennsylvania. He was also the recipient of some old books that are now of great value. His visit to these relatives is the first in forty years or more.

The preliminary examination of Ed Bell, Ralph Sylvester and Minnie Gardner on a charge of robbery was held at Kingman last Thursday. A large number of witnesses were brought here from Goldroad and Oatman. C. W. Herndon, County Attorney, prosecuted the cause for the state and Daniel Worth defended. No conclusive evidence could be secured against the parties and they were discharged. The amount alleged to have been stolen by the holdups is $4000. None of the bystanders were molested.

Tomorrow Kingman and Needles will play a game of ball on the local grounds. The boys are believed to be evenly matched and the game promises to be one of the best played on the local grounds this year. Everybody should go out and help the boys out by patronizing the game and making it possible to build up a good club. Moral, as well as financial support is necessary to build a successful ball team and the people of Kingman need one that will give every opposing team a run for its money.

E. S. Clark, of Prescott, and W. M. Seabury, of Phoenix, are in Kingman, having come here to take depositions in the matter of the appeal of the Peachy case to the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Clark is representing the defendants and Mr. Seabury the plaintiff. This is the cause growing out of the attempt of one Peachy to relocate the Frisco mines, at Union Pass, and which cause was determined by all the Arizona courts in favor of the defendants. Depositions are being taken before C. W. Herndon, sitting as commissioner.

Mrs. J. W. Porter was last week operated on at one of the Los Angeles hospitals and is reported to be rapidly convalescing. She has been quite ill the past year and an operation was believed to be the only recourse to bring her back to health, and it is to be hoped that her recovery will be complete.

Col. Tom Weedon says that he has no kick against the people of the north taking the National Highway away from the southern end of the state, but his kick is against the managers of the Old Trails Association for misrepresentation. Now, even in this Tom is wrong. The Old Trails Association did not misrepresent the matter one iota. They told the southern people just what they told the people of the north—that the states west of Santa Fe would have to get together and adopt some route that would be feasible, historic and scenic. Everything in the matter of the selection of the route was to be absolutely in the hands of the members of the association from these states—New Mexico, Arizona and California. When the call for the meeting was sent out the people of the south received the same notices sent to the members in the north. The northern people got busy and they got the route, so far as the Old Trails Association is concerned. If Col. Weedon will please take note of the methods of the people of Phoenix, he will learn that no other locality can really tie up with them, because they are favoring only routes that eventually lands tourists in that town. Florence is not on the latest map that they are preparing, the route passing through Springerville, over the mountain to Globe, Roosevelt and Phenix. They are asking and demanding that boards of trade and chambers of commerce all over the south take action to nullify the action of the Old Trails Association, but their individual acts to put the other towns out of commission must not be held against them. They can agree with Springerville, or they can agree with El Paso, over the routing of the transcontinental line, but none of the towns that they give the go by to should squall, because it is Phenix that is asking the favor and demanding it at the same time. But no one need worry about the route. It is where it always will be, along the most historic and scenic route on earth, The Santa Fe-Grand Canyon-Needles National Highway.

Ray P. Wheelock returned from a visit to his old home in Michigan, as well as having taken in the good roads meeting at Kansas City. He attended to important mining business in connection with the Enterprise mines. Mr. Wheelock was one of the best boosters at the Old Trails meeting, and his good work showed to advantage in the making of the big map that was on exhibition in the convention hall. He reports that it is probable that the next meeting of the Old Trails National Highway association will be at the Grand Canyon, where the members from all the states may see the scenic wonders of that great gorge and take the side trips to the other sightly places along the route. Northern Arizona should provide ways and means to give the visitors the time of their lives and necessary literature should be provided well in advance of the event.

G. Bryan accompanied C. E. Walker from Yuma and Phenix this week and will remain here to complete work on Elks Hall. Mr. Bryan had charge of work for Mr. Walker at both Yuma and Phenix. Mr. Walker departed Wednesday evening to Denver, where he will be busily employed preparing plans for residences and completing other work upon which he has been employed for some time. He left plans and specifications for the Mohave county court house, on which bids are now being asked for.

A large number of Elks came in from Chloride last night to attend the initiation of the big class of candidates. Some of them arrived too late for the ceremonies, but not too late for the banquet. They had the time of their lives at the feed and enjoyed the music furnished by the Elks quartette.

Prescott and Flagstaff are each preparing for a great celebration on the Fourth of July. Arizona people should take part in these celebrations and a general get-together movement be put under way. Northern Arizona offers better summer resorts than the mountain resorts of California and there is no reason why these scenic places should not be visited by our home people, when it is taken into consideration that people come from Europe to feast their eyes on these magnificent scenes.

This week the Elks building committee made arrangements for the putting in of the heating plant for the lodge and club room as well as the theater part of the big building. C. E. Walker was given the contract to install the plant, the work to be done by local men. The basement under the building will also be extended and a fine banquet room completed. When all the improvements have been made the lodge will have one of the most up-to-date places in the state. The club rooms are now inhabitable, the furniture having been put in and everything made ready for the use of the members.

The Elks last night put a big class through their paces and saw that the horns were properly sprouted. From Needles came the greater part of the class. Among those from the sister town were the following Elks and candidates: T. L. Brown, L. J. Fletcher, C. A. Burton, M. B. Marlow, F. L. Downs, Hiram Brown, C. McIntosh, C. J. Topping, J. S. Mee, George Nay, Bruce Armstrong, A. W. Sheen, E. R. Croston, J. F. Carey, Ed. Hennessy, C. W. Rhyne, C. George, M. H. Marks, G. E. Haskin. The boys are all good fellows and the local lodge is to be congratulated on the acquisition of these new members.

W. B. Stephens and wife are visiting in Kingman, having come up from the Big Sandy. Mr. Stephens gathered a large number of beef steers for the market, but his buyer failed to show up with the necessary cash and as a consequence he is looking for another buyer. The cattle are said to be in first class condition.

A slight cold in a child or a grown person holds possibilities of the gravest nature. Croup may come on suddenly in the night, bronchitis or pneumonia may develop, and severe catarrhal troubles and consumption are possible results. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound nips a cold at the outset, cures croup quickly, checks a deep-seated racking cough, and heals inflamed membranes. It does not constipate and contains no opiates. Refuse substitutes. H. H. Watkins, Druggist.
